

CODICE PROGETTO

P2022WLSJN

From vulnerability to valorisation: interdisciplinary approaches to coastal heritage conservation in the face of global change

31st May 2024

Aula Geymonat, Palazzo Malcanton Marcorà,
Dorsoduro 3484/D, Venice

and online: meet.google.com/aph-oxsr-ikk

9.30 – 10.00 INTRODUCTION

Pietro Daniel Omodeo (Department of Philosophy and Cultural Heritage, UNESCO Chair on "Water Heritage and Sustainable Development" NICHE-Ca'Foscari University of Venice, Italy)

Daniele Baglioni (Head of the Department of Humanities, Ca' Foscari University of Venice)

Elena Bacchin (Head of the Research Division, Department of Humanities, Ca' Foscari University of Venice)

10.00 – 10.40 Storm surges flooding Venice: a comparison between the historical events, nowadays and future risks

Dario Camuffo, Istituto di Scienze dell'Atmosfera e del Clima, CNR, Italy

10.40 – 11.10 Entangled in the water. Geoarchaeological insights in the safeguard of the Lagoon of Venice UNESCO Heritage Sites against global change

Alexandra Bivolaru, Daniela Cottica, Diego Calaon, Department of Humanities, Ca'Foscari University of Venice, Italy

11.10 – 11.50 Lead, a Roman fingerprint in environmental archives from the Mediterranean basin and its modern inheritance

Alain Veron, CNRS-CEREGE, Aix-Marseille University, France

11.50 – 12.30 "Bitter Lemons of Cyprus": A story on the risks and vulnerabilities of the archaeological sites of Cyprus

Judith Gatt, CNRS, CCJ, Aix-Marseille University, France, and University of Cyprus, Cyprus

12.30 – 14.00 Lunch break

14.00 – 14.40 Tunisia and Saudi Arabia - Water from the Seas, Water from the Skies. Assessing past and future on cultural heritage sites in Tunisia and Saudi Arabia

Katia Schorle, CNRS, CCJ, Aix Marseille University, France

14.40 – 15.20 Coastal archaeology and climate change in the Middle East: contextualising global projections

Georgia Andreou, Department of Archaeology, University of Southampton, UK

15.20 – 16.00 The vulnerable coastal heritage of Arwad reef in the era of global environmental shifts

Jafar Anbar, CCJ, Aix-Marseille University, France and the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, Greece

16.00 – 16.40 The triple threat: Urbanization, Flooding and Erosion Endangering the Persian Gulf Coastal Archaeology

Madjid Pourkerman, Research Institute for Earth Sciences, Geological Survey of Iran, Tehran, Iran

16.40 – 17.20 CONCLUDING REMARKS

Geoarchaeology of global changes in the time of the Anthropocene

Christophe Morhange, CEREGE-Aix Marseille University, EPHE-PSL-AOROC, IMERA, France

Alexandra Bivolaru, Department of Humanities, Ca'Foscari University of Venice

Daniela Cottica, Department of Humanities, Ca'Foscari University of Venice

Organised by: Alexandra Bivolaru, Department of Humanities, Ca' Foscari University of Venice; Daniela Cottica, Department of Humanities, Ca' Foscari University of Venice; Christophe Morhange (EPHE-PSL-AOROC, IMERA, AMU-CEREGE)

Coastal lagoons and their hidden cultural heritage: the exploitation of lagoonal environments in Roman Italy" (codice progetto: P2022WLSJN), finanziato dall'Unione Europea - NextGenerationEU, nell'ambito del bando PRIN 2022 PNRR - Missione 4 "Istruzione e Ricerca" ed in particolare la componente C2 – investimento 1.1, Fondo per il Programma Nazionale di Ricerca e Progetti di Rilevante Interesse Nazionale (PRIN) | CUP: H53D23010330001